

New work practices, new organization

Reconsidering organization and management in an ongoing change world

Wednesday 31 May, 14h00-18h00

Digital nomads, makers, coworkers, freelancers - among others - are inventing new ways working and collaborating. Privileging rhizomic organization, self-management and social innovation, these trends call organization and management into question as they not only change the world of work but also society. Within this context, research can no longer focus on studying traditional organizations and the way management is taught should evolve too.

Les nomades digitaux, les makers, les coworkers, les travailleurs indépendants (etc.) inventent de nouvelles façons de travailler et de collaborer. Privilégiant les modes d'organisation ouverts, l'autogestion et l'innovation sociale, ils remettent en question l'organisation et le management, car ces tendances changent non seulement le monde du travail, mais la société également. Dans ce contexte, ces évolutions sont une opportunité pour repenser la recherche en théories des organisations et l'enseignement du management.

Program

Introduction – Isabelle Bouty and Anthony Hussenot, Université Paris-Dauphine, PSL

Keynote - Debunking organization studies and management teaching

Stéphanie Dameron, Université Paris-Dauphine, PSL (14h10-14h30)

What should organization and management studies be in a constantly changing world?

Round table one (14h30-16h00)

- Isabelle Bouty, Université Paris-Dauphine, PSL
- Tor Hernes, Copenhagen Business School
- Daniel Hjorth, Copenhagen Business School
- Aura Parmentier, Université Côte d'Azur

Coffee break (16h00-16h30)

What should the teaching of organization and management be in a constantly changing world?

Round table two (16h30-18h00)

- Sylvain Bureau, ESCP
- Eila Szendy-El Kurdi, Université Paris 8
- Isabelle Vandangeon-Derumez, Université Paris Est
- François-Xavier de Vaujany, Université Paris-Dauphine, PSL

This workshop is organized by Management & Organization research team, DRM – UMR-CNRS 7088. Location: Université Paris-Dauphine, PSL (metro line 2 to Porte Dauphine station – last stop), Room A709. Participation in the seminar is free.

Contact:

Isabelle Bouty: isabelle.bouty@dauphine.fr

Anthony Hussenot: anthony.hussenot@dauphine.fr